Ever been to Massachusetts?

By Scott Berry

If the answer is "no," it'll change to "yes" by the end of our next monthly meeting, because our guest speaker, Dr Della Scott-Ireton, will take us on a tour (or should I say "cruise"? ) of the USS Massachusetts which is below the surface of the water in Pensacola Pass. While we've had speakers give presentations on many different subjects in the past, this is probably the most unique of all and our Navy contingent will get excited about it—even though it's the birthday month for the Air Force—they'll have to wait for October.

Researching the USS Massachusetts was not a part-time hobby for Dr Scott-Ireton—it's her job and she has all the credentials to do that. She graduated from the University of West Florida with a Bachelor's degree in Anthropology and a Master's degree in Historical Archaeology. She also has a Master's in International Relations from Troy University and if that isn't enough, earned a Ph.D. in Anthropology from Florida State University. Whew! Della is certified as a Scuba Instructor with the National Association of Underwater

Instructors (NAUI). She worked with the Pensacola Shipwreck Survey, West Florida Historic Preservation, Inc., Florida Bureau of Archaeological Research, and the government of the Cayman Islands before joining the Florida Public Archaeology Network (FPAN.us) where she serves as Associate Director. Della is a Registered Professional Archaeologist and member of the Florida

Archaeological Council, and has served on the board of the Society for Historical Archaeology, the Advisory Council on Underwater Archaeology, and the Marine Protected Areas Federal Advisory Committee. Della's research interests include public interpretation of maritime cultural heritage, both on land and under water, and training and engaging "citizen scientists" in archaeological methods and practices.

I'm excited to hear her presentation and perhaps more about the organization she represents. I hope you will be too and join us for the September luncheon. See you there!

Greetings!

'Tis the season for service birthdays. Last month we started with the Coast Guard and will continue on through the end of the year but will have to wait until June for the Army so tune up your vocal chords. In September it'll be up into the wild blue yonder!

Scott Berry

What a great announcement about our selection as a Five Star Level of Excellence chapter AGAIN! As I mentioned at the luncheon, the rules changed this year so I was a little concerned but obviously should not have been as we came through again. This award represents great volunteer work by so many people whose names would take up this entire column to list. Needless to say I'm grateful for all that people have done. There was a time in the not too distant past when four stars was the best we could do. Glad to see that has changed.

And this award didn't come because of fluffy words and trite phrases. We are walking the walk. As an example, Bill Van Hoesen and his committee are marching forward on the Homeless Veterans Stand Down Day and MOAA sees so much value in this effort that they gave him $3000! MOAA's grant award process is very selective and recipients must meet stringent requirements. Bill and his crew did that and I'm proud to have this chapter leading the charge on this important community event.

I hope lunch attendees have used the recruiting tri-folds given to them to good use. We're inching forward in increasing our chapter membership but could be taking giant leaps with help from more people, so I strongly encourage the widest dissemination of those tri-folds.

New Members

Martha LaGuardia-Kotite, CAPT (RET), USCG
Bruce Ingham, LTC (RET), USA

My goal is to hit 300 members by the end of the year and that's very doable.

We'll be having another Officers Call in October. I think we make it an Oktoberfest theme. It's okay to drink beer during Oktoberfest, isn't it? And maybe Nick Marotta will come through with another raffle of "salubrious spirits." Details to follow.

See you at lunch and bring a prospective member with tri-fold in hand!

By Chaplain Tom Azar

When deployed to Middle East I was impressed with the operational and medical teams that transported our wounded to military hospitals. As a stretcher bearer chaplain I learned by ‘walking in their shoes’ the depth of their compassion and care. The following is a meditative poem I wrote in the ‘tent terminal’

MED FLIGHT FROM SOMALIA’S WAR

Recalling nights of broken relationships atop a C130
I smell the lost inside black bags sealed by living hands
Carried by six across decades of death and dismemberment

I came prayerfully to listen and respond with gentle care
Two sides of the frontline merge when death meets life
Fathers mothers sons and daughters and lost spouse

Where is the true peace we warrior chaplains yearn for
Who cries with me for the bruised veterans on the green grass
Come sweet spirit and heal our wounds and numbness

No one, no not one has crawled where you opened paths our plane is now your chapel flying home from hell to havens of holiness and calm to venerate the breathless young patriots to their appointed place next to their relatives brass marker

USAF Birthday

On 18 September 1947 President Truman signed the National Security Act establishing the United States Air Force as an independent service. In light of their birthday, we will be singing the Air Force Song:

Off we go into the wild blue yonder,
Climbing high into the sun
Here they come zooming to meet our thunder
At 'em boys, Give 'er the gun!
Down we dive, spouting our flame from under
Off with one helluva roar!
We live in fame or go down in flame. Hey!
Nothing can stop the U.S. Air Force!

‘Extraordinary Sacrifice’: Air Force Tech. Sgt. John Chapman

‘Extraordinary Sacrifice’: Air Force Tech. Sgt. John Chapman Posthumously Awarded the Medal of Honor (Condensed from the Air Force Times)

By: Stephen Losey

Tech. Sgt. John Chapman, the combat controller who was killed trying to save the lives of a team of Army Rangers during a ferocious mountaintop battle in Afghanistan in 2002, was posthumously awarded the Medal of Honor Wednesday.

President Trump presented the nation’s highest award for valor to Chapman’s widow, Valerie Nessel, in a ceremony in the East Room of the White House. Chapman is now the first special tactics airman to receive the Medal of Honor, as well as the first airman to receive the nation’s highest award for valor for actions since the Vietnam War.

Trump described how, from an early age in Windsor Locks, Connecticut, Chapman was driven to “protect those in need.” Even as a young kindergartner, Trump said, he stood up to protect a friend who was being bullied.

“In his high school yearbook, John quoted these words: ‘Give yourself before taking of someone else,’” Trump said. “John lived by that motto every single day. Everybody who knew him said that’s the way he lived.”

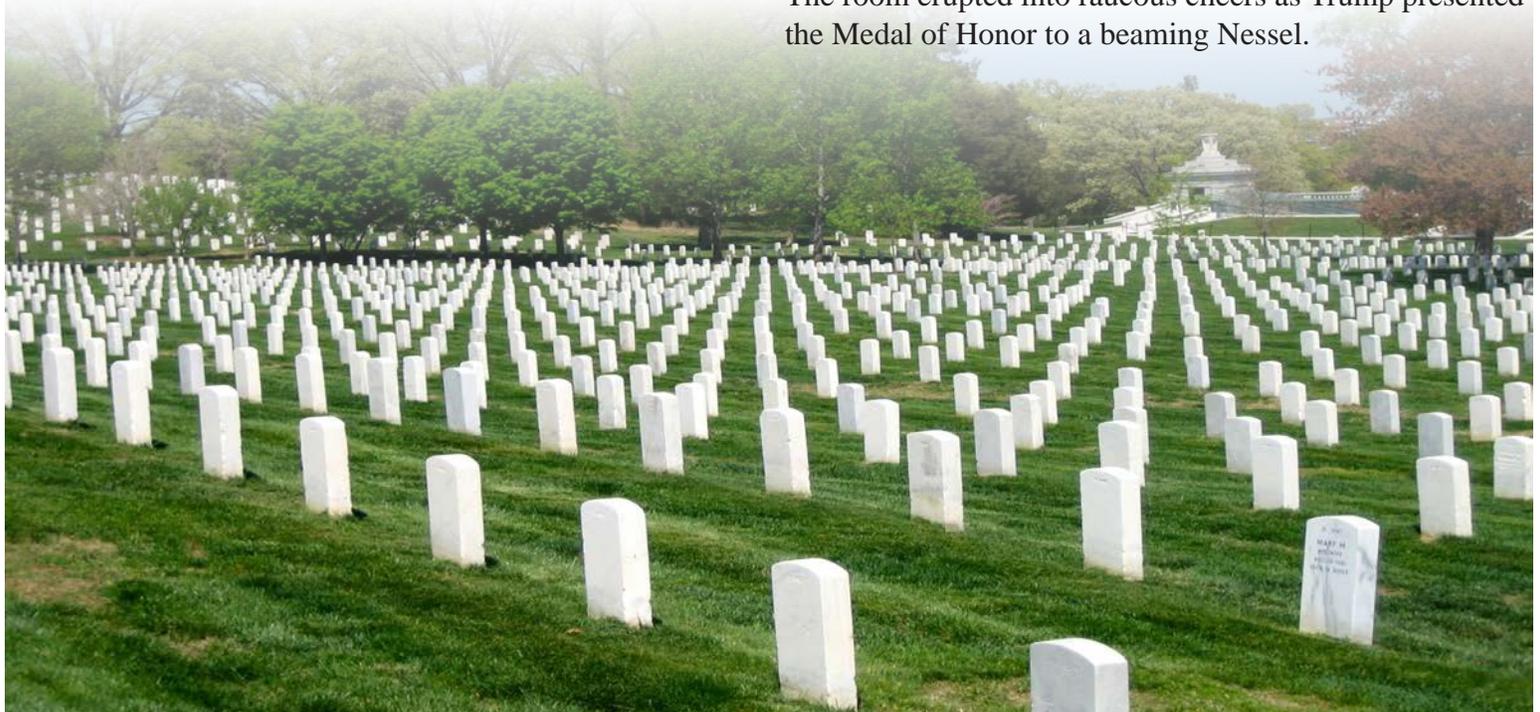

After the 9/11 attacks, Trump said Chapman told his commander, “I need to go.” A few months later, Chapman was part of a team of Navy SEALs taking part in Operation Anaconda, one of the most harrowing battles of the early days of the Afghanistan war. After their helicopter took heavy fire during the initial assault, Chapman and the other SEALs volunteered to return and try to rescue a teammate who had been thrown from the helicopter.

They found themselves in a ferocious firefight. Chapman was “the first to charge up the mountain toward the enemy,” Trump said, and left the safety of a bunker he had cleared to assault a second bunker containing al-Qaida fighters. Chapman was shot and lost consciousness, but despite his wounds, he woke up a few minutes later and resumed fighting for about an hour.

Chapman saw another helicopter coming in, containing Army Rangers and airmen, and again emerged from his bunker to fight militants aiming rocket-propelled grenades at them. He was killed, but his actions are believed to have saved the lives of many of the troops on that helicopter.

“John gave his life for his fellow warriors,” Trump said. “Through his extraordinary sacrifice, John saved more than 20 American service members, some of whom are here today.”

The room erupted into raucous cheers as Trump presented the Medal of Honor to a beaming Nessel.

The new school year has started and the JROTC cadets at our seven sponsored high schools are busy with classes, drills, training, and community events. Many cadets attended the summer camp hosted by Hurlburt Field, learning new skills and received leadership training. When you see a JROTC cadet, please acknowledge him/her and thank them for participating.

Corrections: In the last issue I showed Gold Century Club member Sam Lombardo as having served with the USAF; he actually proudly served with the US Army (HooRah!). I had also misspelled Dann Mattiza's name. Corrections have been made in this issue. My apologies. The 50/50 drawing at the August Chapter luncheon was won by Doris Day. Ticket sales were $218 with $109 to Doris and $109 to the Scholarship Fund. Doris donated her winnings to the Scholarship Fund. Thanks, Doris, and to all who bought tickets.
